G. E. PETTY'S COLT SHOW.

Third Annual Exhibit will be Held in Versailles on Saturday, October 13, 1906.

Owing to the rain last Friday, G. E. Petty was unable to hold his colt show, which was to have been made one of the features on that day of the street fair, at which time his thoroughbred Coach horse, Doris 4320, was to have been shown, and a premium given—season, value $20—to the farmer showing the best sucking colt sired by Doris.

Mr. Petty has decided to hold this colt show on Saturday afternoon, October 13th, on the Square in Versailles, when all stockmen owning colts sired by this fine horse will be allowed to compete for the premium offered.

This is to be Mr. Petty's third annual colt show, the former shows in this city having created unusual interest, especially among those who were directly interested. "Doris" is one of the finest horses in Morgan County, and there will be lively competition at the colt show on this occasion.

M. W. A. Notes.

The Modern Woodmen of America had 813,691 members September 1st.

There were 8,718 new members joined the M. W. A., during August and 94,993 between January 1st and September 1st.

During September two death claims were allowed, by the M. W. A., in the 7th district, Jacob Dahler of Prairie Home, $2000 and E. C. Phares of Sedalia $3000.

During the month of September the Modern Woodman of America went into the homes of 346 deceased neighbors and gave $623,000.00 to the widows and fatherless therein. Of the above number of deaths 33 were in Missouri, and of the above amount $56,000 came to Missouri.

No assessment for October. This makes three assessments skip so far this year. The Modern Woodman of America is in its 24th year and has paid all approved death claims with an average of nine assessments per year. At this rate $1,000 protection costs the man under 25 years of age $4.50 per year and a man at 41 but $3 per year.

The first camp organized in the M. W. A., was on the 5th of January 1883 in Iowa. Hence Iowa has been in the jurisdiction of Woodcraft since the first. Missouri was admitted to the society's jurisdiction in June, 1893. Iowa held second position in rank until June, 1906, when Missouri past to 2nd position. For this reason 77,500 Missouri Woodmen are going to celebrate. The time selected is the entire week beginning October 2nd. With 1200 camp fires lighted and 77,500 jolly Woodmen gathered about them there'll be something doing.

When Joe Went To Cincinnati To See His Uncle.

In last Tuesday's Tribune appeared the account of the marriage of Miss Bettie Nassauer and Mr. Joseph Popper, of this city, immediately upon the landing of Miss Nassauer after spending the summer in Europe. Mr. Popper and his charming bride arrived here last Saturday afternoon, and their many friends, especially among the young people, met them with a strenuous reception. The carriage was taken to the depot and placed in charge of two colored footmen. The "Jumper Band," composed of a number of members of the former Bunceton band, and other recruits, uniformed in red caps and over-all jumpers, was concealed on the north side of the station. The band was headed by "Sheriff" George Hays, who was compelled by his comrades to act as marshal of the day, and head the procession mounted upon a spirited and coal black steed. As the bride and groom alighted from the train they were met with showers of rice. Reaching their carriage they were assisted into it by their friends and at the same time the footmen stepped forward and took the reins, moving the carriage to the street. Then the melodious and strenuous strains of the band broke loose and the whole procession passed up the street. At its head was a large banner carried by two boys, upon which was inscribed the legend which heads this account: "Joe went to see his uncle in Cincinnati," which was the excuse he gave for his departure when he left here several days ago. It was a jolly procession and marked a jolly time, and was a hearty demonstration of the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Popper are held by their many friends in this city.

Mr. Popper has been engaged in business here for many years, and is one of the best known men in the county. The bride has made her home here for several years and is among our most popular young ladies. She is an ideal hostess and a charming personage.

In addition to the congratulations and best wishes which we extended them in Tuesday's Tribune, we again express the hope that peace, happiness and prosperity may ever be theirs—Bunceton Tribune.
